THE meaning of the Renter's telegram publised in yesterday's issue concerning Russia and China is not very clear. In the first place, it is stated that "the Chinese Government desires to substitute Kuldja in the treaty convention ceding Ili." We cather from the condensed version of the Chinese copy of the Treaty of Livadia that the greater part of the province of Ili with the town of Kuldja are by that agreement restored to China, but a portion of Ili-and that containing the passes from selling or otherwise dealing with inland which lead to Kashgaria-is retained by lots Nos 2 8 and 235. Russia, and she is thereby able to maintain the connection between her own province of Ferghana and the country so recently re-conquered by China. What China wants, therefore, is probably a change in this arrangement, giving up the bulk of Ili to Russia, but insisting upon the restoration of the passes, which are of great strategical importance to her, and without which she will not be able to retain her hold on Kashgaria in the future without becoming embroiled in petty wars and disputes.

more definite than that just noticed. It runs:—" The Russian Government requires a rectification of frontier." Where? we would ask. It is the great business of Russian statesmen to rectify the Russian frontier, and this work is perpetually going on at the expense of those countries whose borders join those of the great Muscovite Empire. It is no less true than deplorable that "rectification simply signifies with the Russian Government extension, and their bargains are always one-sided. Every war is followed by a rectification of frontier, which results in the addition of a large strip of ter- thing of a suspicious character in the matter and ritory to the already vast dominions of the Autocrat of all the Russias. The Russo-Turkish war, undertaken avowedly out of the purest and most disinterested motives-to rescue down-trouden Shav nationalities from the tyranny of the "unspeakable Turk"ended in the territorial aggrandisement of the sympathiser, even at the expense, in one case, of a most faithful and gallant ally. The Kuldin difficulty will only be got over now by similar means: China will have to submit to the shearing process. Whether the rectification of frontier spoken of applies to in the colony and might bring suits against Central Asia or extends to the Amoor and anyone. Moreover, the Official Assignee could Mongolia we are not in a position to say.

IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION. BEFORE MR. JUSTICE SNOWDEN.

F. M. DE LUZ V. L. L. DE LOPEZ S6. The plaintiff claimed S6 for the maintenance and sustenance of a certain child, of which she alloged the defendant was the father, for the month of August.

Mr. Wotten appeared for the defendant. The plaintiff said the defendant had paid $6 a month for June and July for the support of the child, but previously to that he had paid nothing. l'he child was bore in 1872.

Mr. Wotton submitted that there was no proviion by the law of this Colony for compelling a ather to mantain any illegitimate child, and that the child not having been legally found to be the defendant's, even by the laws of England he could not be compelled to pay for its mainte ance, and he referred his Lordship to 4 and 5, William IV... chap. 72, section 71, "a promise by the father of an illegitimate child to pay the mother if she will support the child is void, without consideraion." He also cited the case of Crowhurst v. Laversack, 8 Exch., 208.

Judgment for the defendant. The plaintiff said that the defendant promised i o marry ber, and had not done so. His Lordship told her that she might enter an notion against him for broach of promise of marriage, but he would not advise her to do so.

IN BANKRUPTCY. IN RE HO KWONG MING, A BANKRUPT. His Lordship now gave judyment on the application of Boo Sing Kai for an injunction

Mr. Brereton appeared for the applicant for he injunction, and the Attorney General (Hon. E. L. Malley instructed by Messra. Sharp. oller, and Johnson, for the Official Assignee. The facts of the case were reported on the 28th ultimo. See Sing Kai had purchased the estate from Ho Atim, to whom it was alleged the bankrapt had transferred his equitable interest in the property for valuable consideration in October. 1878, whereas he did not become a bankrupt until-May in the following year. It was objected that this agreeme t was collusive, that Ho Atim was related to the bankrunt, and that the transfer was not for valuable consideration, and was illegal. A proliminary objection was taken that the matter was res judicati, the Chief Justica having dismissed a motion in which it was sought The next clause of the telegram is scarcely to make the Official Assignee join in the assign. mont, with costs against Ho Atim. His Lordship said the more dismissal of a motion could be no proof that the the subject was res judicata; it might be dismissed from want of evidence or on ourely technical grounds. He had spoken to the thief Justice, who remembered the motion well, and who said he dismissed the motion because the refusal of the executor to join in the assignment (which it was now explained was owing to alaw suit then pending) was suspicious. What grounds there now were for impeaching the conveyance he could not see. The title was quite clear and be need not refer to it. The agreement between the bank upt and Ho Atim transferred in equity to Ho Atim whatever estate the bankrupt had in the property. Having referred nt some length to the affidavits which had been out in, his Lordship said he could not see anyhe was unable to discover any ground on which the assignment could be impeached. He therefore granted the injunction prayed for.

Mr. Brereton asked for costs. The Attorney-General said he really though each party ought to bear their own costs, as had been shown there were circumstances which called for inquiry. He also referred to the posiion of the Official Assignes and said it was very Important that he should not shrink from looking after the interests of the creditors. Mr. Brereton said he must press for costs, not only in the interests of his client but as a matter of principle. If the Official Assignee were be allowed to bring suits in this manner with out the other side having the right to recover costs he would be a sort of free-lance. always protect himself by obtaining an order of court. His client had been nut to great expense

The Attorney-General urged that It would e inexpedient to throw the risk of being discharge of his duty, and as to obtaining an order of court, he said that was a very clumsy proceeding, though a man might adopt it of he thought more of his own interests than those of His ords' in said he must reserve his decision as to costs; it was too important a matter for him

Russia and Chinz. One report was made current to the effect that China sincerely desired peace and intended to conciliate Russia. This meant, I suppose that China having recovered Kuldja was anxious to settle on that basis. Then it was positively asserted that the Crar had committed the very unusual act of writing an autograph letter to the Commander in Chief of the China expedition on the departure of that functionary from Cronstadt, bidding him God speed and urging him to distinguish himself. INGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION.

An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong, For comprehensiveness and practical service ANNUAL INCOME $250,000 Sterling. this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have to late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous oblects in machinery, photography, telegraphy and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is [78] fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography formation as to value, &c. displays the success of an attempt to make the LEALTHRESTORED. of hody, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. TIONIANG THE VICTIMS. Thomas Moore, in his 'Dream of a Turtle,' thus humourously hits off some of the characteristics of Canning :--

' And on that turtle I saw a rider. A goodly man with an eye so morry I knew twas our Foreign Secretary, Who there at his case did sit and smile Like Waterton on his orocodils: Cracking such jokes at every motion, As made the turtle squeak with gles, And own that they gave him a lively notion Of what his own forced-ment balls would be.

If you ask why the 11th of Jane I remember Much better than April, or May, or November, On that day, my lords, with truth I assure ye, My sainted progenitor set up his browery; On that day, in the morn, he began browing beer On that day, too, commenced his communial career On that day he received and he issued his bills; On that day he cleared out all the each from his tills; On that day he died, having finished his summing, And the angels all eriod, "Here's old Whitbroad

So that day still I hall with a smile and a sigh, For his beer with an E, and his bier with an I; And still on that day, in the hottest of weather, The whole Whitbread family dies all together. So long as the beams of this house shall support The roof which o'ershades this respectable court, Where Hastings wantried for oppressing the Hindoos; So long as that sun shall shine in at those windows, My name shall shine bright as my ancestor's shines, Mine recorded in Journals, his blazoned on signs !

THE RIVALS AT PEACE. The graves of Fox and Pitt, in Westminster Abbey. are situated within a few inches of each other. Sir Walter Scott thus moralises on the fact, in the introduction to the first canto of Marmion : -

· Where-taming thought to human pride!-The mighty chiefs sleep side by side. Jirop upon Fox's grave the tear, Twill trickle to his rival's bier ; O'er Pitt's the mountal roquiem sound, And Fox's shall the notes rebound. George Grenville, leader of the Opposition, having brought forward his famous Bill for the Trial of Controverted Elections (March 22ad, 1770), it was opposed by Lord North and the Government; and Grey, the Attorney General, made a long speech against its dangerous innovations, concluding thus:--In short, sir, although there no doubt have hitherto been irregularies and even abuses while the House retained to itself its constitutional power of deciding election petitions, it is botter to endure the ovils of which we know the extent than, in a sudden start of disgust and humoursome passion, fly to others that we know not of.' Wedderburn (afterwards Lord Longhborough), rising immediately after, continued Hamlet's soliloguy :--
